

Up $7.50 1975 tax rate $64

The 1975 tax rate for Wilmington has been set at $64 per thousand valuation. The new rate, which is $7.50 over that of a year ago reflects an increase in school costs, and a decrease in state aid. At the same time there is a healthy increase in state and county charges, $305,464 more than a year ago.

The new tax rate also reflects an increase in local government. A year ago the cost was $21.59 per thousand. This year it is $23.05, an increase of $1.46.

The new school rate is $40.95 a thousand, up $604 from last year's rate of $34.91.

The new rate was set Tuesday, in the State House, by Principal Assessor Anthony Krzminski and state tax officials.

Wilmington's assessments run at 60% of the true value of the tax property taxed.

Cease and Desist-Chapter VI Boylan backs the Planning Board

The Cease and Desist order, designed to stop gravel operations at the site of an approved subdivision off Aldrich Road was killed, Monday night, by the Board of Selectmen. Only Chairman Danny Gillis held out adamantly for another solution.

The selectmen instructed the Town Counsel to make an agreement excepting only a penalty clause, which Altman put in later - a $2,000 bond to guarantee that operations would conform to the Planning Board approved plan for the subdivision.

There will be no Saturday or Sunday operations, and none before 7:30 a.m. nor after 4 p.m. All operations will conform to the Planning Board plan. An engineering report will be made weekly, on this point. The engineer to make the report was not named, but it may be presumed that the Town Engineer will be told to do so.

It was also agreed that more gravel could go out of town, up to 25,000 yards, this as of last Monday. One hundred thousand yards still remain to be excavated according to one estimate of Monday night.

A note from the Town Manager, and verbal advice from the Town Counsel led to the decision. Altman warned that he had "no feeling" about any decision the Clerk might make on August 13, and that if the case were to go to the Superior Court Altman felt that the bylaws might prove to be "gray" - i.e. unenforceable. Altman spoke of the fines as being ineffectual, and quoted a well known gravel operator of twenty years ago as saying that he would pay the Town Clerk $2000 a day if he could operate without restriction.

Chairman Gillis, after the Town Counsel had spoken, still held out. He suggested that the selectmen have the plan "modified." When no attention was paid to his suggestion he went on further, and wanted the plan rescinded.

The other selectmen were not impressed. Miceli wanted to settle with a compromise. Banda wanted the gravel removed from the site by stages, to keep control.

Gillis was adamant. He wanted modification. That would take too long, Atty. Joe Courtney said.

Gillis raised his voice. He charged that Courtney just wanted to be a gravel operator. "I hope you will ask the Planning Board to explain it."

Boylan: "I back the Planning Board 100%."

It was Boylen who made the motion to allow the operation, seconded by Miceli.

Less money from lottery

Returns from the state lottery to the Town of Wilmington, reflected in this year's tax rate, are lower than they were a year ago.

Last year Wilmington received $74,538.20. This year the receipts were $69,431.19.

NOTHING LIKE A HOFBRAU BAND. Sunday was the fiftieth anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. Rudolf Krey of Andover Street. Many relatives were present to help celebrate. There was German music too, from the Oberlander Hofbrau Band.

The music had a particular charm to Ted Catellier, a grandson. While his aunts and uncles and others danced the polka he just sat and listened.

26,000 cars a day on Main Street

Wilmington is being subjected to an overflow of autos, judging by the standards of traffic of 10 years ago.

The Planning Board was told, Tuesday, that there have been counts of 26,000 autos a day using Main Street, at a point near Clark Street.

It was not traffic going to and from Route 93, drivers on their way to work, or returning. It was an all-day steady grind, starting at 7 a.m. and lasting until about 10 or 11 p.m., the Planning Board was told.

And on Church Street, where it joins Middlesex Ave., the count was 20,000 a day.

What the Planning Board was being told was part of a report that the Selectmen did not get Monday night, from representatives of firms engaged in making new surveys on the proposed Route 129 Alternate. Men from the Boston firm of Barnes and Jarnis, and from other firms visited the selectmen Monday night, and then the Reading Board of Public Works. The Wilmington Planning Board was on Tuesday night.

The Wilmington selectmen were amazed to hear that Barnes & Jarnis was making a survey. They greeted the news with a chorus of disbelief, and told the representatives that the area had had surveys and studies enough to "come out our ears"

What the selectmen want to see is some work on Alternate Route 129, the men were told.

Not that the selectmen were not polite, for they were, but by the time the explanation had been made the report had to be made more brief, for the meeting with the Reading DPW was scheduled for 9:30 p.m.

The Planning Board just sat back and listened, and got a more complete report.

The study is to prepare an impact statement - what the highway will do to the neighborhood, ecologically speaking and otherwise. It looks forward to 1985, or maybe 1995, to the construction of not only 129 Alternate, but also to other ideas, such as the improvement of Route 62.

No recommendations were being made. The party was on what they called Task 1, to accumulate information and input, a job that is to take three months. They will listen to each and every suggestion that will be made. There will be a meeting next week with town officials in general, and there will be a public informational meeting on September 4 in the public library. Among the things that were mentioned was that the Route 62 bridge is substandard, and will have to be replaced, that there will probably be a bridge over the Wildcat there were 13 separate proposals for the new road, and if more are made they will be studied. Maps were exhibited to both selectmen and planning board members. Some of the proposals go back many years, to the late Chandler Manning in 1915, and to LeRoy Bedell, who 20 or so years ago proposed a road westerly of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Mr. Bedell's proposal is charted, as going through the Wilmington Ford property, and then over a bridge to a point westerly of Sweetheart Plastics, after crossing Burlington Avenue it would again cross the railroad on a second bridge, to rejoin Main Street. There isn't too much to recommend it, but it is being studied.

OBITUARIES

Funeral services for John P. Morrissey

John P. Morrissey of 121 Grove Ave., Wilmington died at the Hale Hospital, Haverhill on Friday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Morrissey, who was 72 years of age at the time of his death, was born in Boston, the son of the late Edward and the late Norah (Foley) Morrissey.

He had resided in Charlestown the greater part of his life before moving to Wilmington six years ago.

Prior to his retirement, Mr. Morrissey had been employed by the Revere Sugar Refinery, Charlestown for many years. He was a member of the Cronin Club of Charlestown and the United Packing House Food and Allied Workers AFL CIO No. 400.

Mr. Morrissey is survived by his nephew, Joseph E. Morrissey Jr. of Wilmington. He was the brother of the late Joseph E. Morrissey, Sr. and the uncle of the late Margaret Morrissey.

The funeral was held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main Street, Wilmington on Monday at 9:15 a.m., followed by a Funeral Mass at St. Dorothy's Church at 10 o'clock which was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. William Smith.

Burial took place in the family lot, Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

They met on Jeckyl Island

Meeting a sister of a Wilmington friend, while visiting on Jeckyl Island, Georgia can be considered an unusual experience. It happened recently to Mr and Mrs William Pierce, and their children William, Colleen and John.

They had visited Disneyland, and the Okefenokee Swamp, in Georgia, and the JFK Space Center at Cape Canaveral. They also visited Jeckyl Island which is on the Georgia coast.

It was at Jeckyl Island that they were approached by some (Georgia) residents, who wanted to know what part of Massachusetts the visitors were from. One of the ladies in the group had a sister, who lives in the old Bay State.

It was a small world. The sister the lady spoke of is Sandra Walsh, of Dorothy Ave. Wilmington.

Question remains: What was Dyko doing?

THE OAK TREE: Into which Dyko's plane crashed. The branches at right are towards, but not over the Wildcat Railroad. Dyko's plane crashed into the top of the tree, the crown. He was flying on an easterly course, at that moment, and was some distance from the railroad.

Was Alexander Dyko a suicide? What was he doing at the time of his fatal plane crash on Lawrence Street in Wilmington?

but their reports will not be issued for some time yet. In the meantime, Wilmington residents are wondering how Dyko's plane came to crash on Lawrence Street.

A plane such as Dyko's, an AT-6 "Texan" had been observed in the area a few weeks prior to the crash. Although there are other such planes in existence, an FAA spokesman said that it would be unlikely to find another in this area.

Did Dyko crash his plane intentionally? According to an eyewitness, he did not.

"It looked to me like the guy was in trouble -- serious trouble -- and it looked like he was trying to get out of it," said Mario Crescitelli of Lawrence Street.

Crescitelli said he was in his front yard when he first saw the plane flying low over trees across the street, near Sprucewood Road. The motor, he said, was erratic. It then revved up, and the plane climbed, flying toward Glen Road. But soon the motor acted up again, and the plane turned right, like it was going to Tewksbury.

The plane then came flying along the railroad tracks, Crescitelli said, banked, with its left wing high. When it was about behind the Crescitelli home, it began to level off, but the engine died with a loud noise, he said. It then hit a tree and flipped over a house, crossing Lawrence Street to hit a swimming pool before crossing Shady Lane Drive and hitting a car, upside down.

When the plane stopped, Crescitelli said, a ball of flame enveloped the O'Donoghue house, but only for a few seconds.

Crescitelli's theory, though, is contradicted by a suicide note found in Dyko's pocket by medical examiner Dr. Thomas Devlin. The note said that August 3 was Dyko's day to die. On the basis of the note, Devlin ruled Dyko a suicide.

Federal authorities investigating the crash have declined comment.

TOWN CRIER, AUGUST 14, 1975

Dyko had had his license suspended

by Jim Ross

Alexander Dyko, the pilot killed in an August 3 plane crash in Wilmington had his airman's certificate suspended in 1973, and was questioned about his role in a fatal air crash in Newburyport last year.

Donald Ackerman of Salisbury was killed on July 13, 1974 when his single-engine plane plunged nose-down into a marsh a half-mile from the Plum Island Airport.

According to eyewitnesses, two planes were performing a series of loops, rolls and dives at low altitudes shortly before Ackerman's plane crashed. One eyewitness, Harry Avkain, said while on the backside of one loop, the Ackerman plane went straight down, striking the ground in an upside-down position. He said that he expected the plane to do a trick and come out of the dive, but only saw mud splattering into the air.

Dyko's plane was the only other aircraft in the area during Ackerman's acrobatic maneuvers, according to the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) initial report of the Ackerman accident. However, the NTSB would not state that Dyko was also performing acrobatics.

Jack Sain, chief of flight standards of the Federal Aviation Administration said both plans were "doing something which was contrary, to the rules, which was flying below 1500 feet." Sain added the Ackerman plane was accompanied by another which was also doing acrobatics. Although the NTSB reports the Dyko aircraft was the only one in the area, Sain would not say Dyko was also doing acrobatics. But Sain did admit that Dyko's airman's certification was suspended for 50 days in May of 1973 for performing acrobatics in a control zone, flying below 1500 feet, flying below 500 feet, and careless, reckless operation of the aircraft. A control zone is an area supervised by air traffic controllers and is primarily used for routine commercial airline flights.

When questioned about the incident, Dyko, in obscene language charged the eyewitness with jumping to conclusions and confusing motions with acrobatic maneuvers.

"I'm pretty upset over this," Dykos said, adding that his past record had no bearing on the Ackerman crash. Dyko refused to answer any questions regarding an acquaintanceship with Ackerman. He told the FAA he was in the area when he noticed the Ackerman plane doing a series of rolls. Each roll, he said, caused the Ackerman plane to lose a tremendous amount of altitude. He said he then flew off the wingtip of Ackerman's plane, lowering his landing gear, motioning toward the ground, in an attempt to entice Ackerman to land. When Ackerman did not land, Dyko said he flew along the coast and did not see the plane crash. He maintained he did not know who the other pilot was.

A surprise for William Talbot

A gala surprise birthday was held recently in honor of the 65th birthday of William R. Talbot, Sr. of Newburyport.

Over 50 friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Huber of 5 Woodlawn Drive, Wilmington to honor Mr. Talbot.

The party was in a way, a family reunion as it brought together several brothers and sisters, some of whom had not met in over 10 years.

On hand to greet their brother were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Groom of 10 Oregon Rd., Wilmington; George and Marge Talbot of Malden; Rick and Madge Talbot of Everett; Jack and Grace Talbot of Braintree; and Grace and Arthur Fiermonte of Melrose. Four grandchildren, Paula and Frank Groom, John Clarke and Scott McGillivray were also on hand along with a host of friends along with Mr. Talbot's wife Harriet and a host of friends.

The festivities were held in the garden of the Huber home where swimming, horseshoes and badminton were enjoyed.

Mr. Talbot, retired recently following 25 years of service as an MBTA bus driver. He was completely surprised and delighted by the celebration which was planned and officially hosted by his daughter Pat Huber.

Visited Grandfather

The 90-year-old grandfather of Joan O'Rourke of Woburn St., Wilmington is a resident of Nova Scotia. Joan, her husband Jim and their sons, Mike and Jay spent part of their vacation this year visiting him at his home.

James Simms of Halifax was delighted by the visit of his granddaughter and her family. The group spent 10 days visiting friends and relatives in the Halifax area and returned to Wilmington last week.

WILLIAM R. TALBOT, SR.: And wife Harriet enter the kitchen of the Huber home at 5 Woodlawn Drive, Wilmington. This was the first knowledge Mr. Talbot had that a huge celebration was about to take place in honor of his 65th birthday.

DOUG ANDERSEN: New Rotarian. Doug Andersen of the D & D Gulf Station in North Wilmington became a member of the Wilmington Rotary Club on August 13; being inducted by Past President Henry Porter.

New cruiser and same old driver

The Wilmington Police Department received a new police cruiser from the Commonwealth, this past week, which is to be used as a Safety Car.

The names were already pointed on the doors, before the cruiser was turned over to the town. In charge of the Safety Car - yes, that's Officer John Ritchie at the wheel.

Sergeant Kincaid Woburn Army Recruiter

Staff Sergeant Robert Kincaid of 117 South Bedford St., Burlington, has been appointed US Army recruiter for the Woburn Recruiting Station at 424 Main St., Woburn. His recruiting area covers Wilmington and Billerica.

Staff Sergeant Kincaid graduated from Lorain High School, Lorain, Ohio, in 1967, where he was a member of the wrestling team. He also attended Northeastern University. He enlisted in the US Marine Corps in 1967 and was honorably discharged as a sergeant in 1970. The same year he enlisted in the Army as a specialist four under the Army Security Agency option. After completing advanced individual training as a Morse interceptor operator, he was assigned as a military policeman at Camp A.P. Hill, Va.

Staff Sergeant Kincaid's decorations and awards include the Silver Star, the Bronze Star with Combat V, the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat V and a number of campaign and service medals.

He is married to the former Marcella Fleming of Lorain, Ohio. They have three children, Robert, 5, Stephen, 3 and Robyn, one year. Staff Sergeant Kincaid is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was AAU champion in boxing in 1968 when he was in the Marine Corps. For recreation he enjoys hunting, fishing and skydiving.

Fireman's holiday
A 24 year veteran of Wilmington's fire department took the proverbial "postman's holiday" when he went on vacation this year.

Lt. Bill Nee of Harris St., his wife Marion and their children, Betty, Christopher, Jimmy and Judy spent their vacation attending the All-State Firemen's Muster, Convention and Parade in Cambridge, Vermont (a small town outside of Stow) last week.

The Nee's were invited to the event by Closson Blaisdell, a former resident of Lowell St., Wilmington and while in Vermont stayed at the home of the Norman Nyes', formerly of Shawsheen Ave. Mr. Blaisdell's son, Brad is currently serving as captain of the all-volunteer fire department in Cambridge. His son Mark is also a member of that force.

Lt. Nee stated that participants in the affair were treated to detailed demonstrations of some of the most up-to-date equipment available and that he was greatly impressed by the sincere dedication of the members of the all-volunteer fire departments of Cambridge and surrounding towns.

Firemen were present from all over New England and one truck involved had travelled all the way from Berwick, Pa.

Dot and Parker Hodgdon, neighbors of the Nees spent part of their vacation at the Cambridge Muster.

Back from Las Vegas
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellsworth, Jr. of Forest St., Wilmington returned home last Saturday following an enjoyable week's trip to Las Vegas, Nevada.

Surprise shower
A unique and pleasing seating arrangement was among the highlights of a recent baby shower held in Tewksbury. Mrs. Carol Hanke of Charlotte Rd., the very surprised guest of honor was seated between her four children, Brenda, Paul, Lisa and Sharon, with the youngsters acting as junior host and hostesses, passing gifts to their mother, reading the cards aloud to guests and circulating the opened presents for others in the room to see.

Over 50 friends and relatives were present to honor Mrs. Hanke who was thoroughly delighted with her friends' efforts in her behalf. She pointed out, not only the lovely seating, but the beautiful cake made by her neighbor, Jan Danehy. Mrs. Danehy chose as her design, a blue bassinet covered with pink roses and containing a baby doll.

Marjorie Saunders and Charlene Macklin were official hostesses of the event, held at the K of C Hall, and were assisted by several other friends and neighbors.

The stork is expected at the Hanke home around the end of August.

Anniversaries

On August 17, Francis and Janet Mullins of 1088 Main St., Tewksbury will observe their seventh wedding anniversary and on August 23, Anne and Gerald O'Reilly of Wildwood St., Wilmington will celebrate their 17th.

Golden Agers

Wilmington Golden Agers who will be observing birthdays next week include: John Haley of Lloyd Rd., on August 17; Rene Hulme of Deming Way and Bertram Miller of Wing Rd., who will be sharing their special day on August 21 and Lena Kozulkevitch of Burlington Ave. on August 18.

Diamond Crystal

Directors of Diamond Crystal Salt Company recently declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 15 cents per share payable August 29 to stockholders-of-record August 15.

Diamond Crystal produces salt for consumer, industrial, food processing, agricultural and governmental uses; and its Packet Products Division manufactures portion controlled food condiments. Plants are located in Wilmington, Michigan, Ohio, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Long Island, Bahamas.

State Fire Marshall

a dedicated member of Wilmington's fire department for over a decade has recently been appointed fire marshall for the entire state of New Hampshire.

Ray Dewhurst, formerly of Cedar St., Wilmington, left here several years ago to join the Salem, N.H. Fire Department as a private. Later he was named deputy chief in Hanover, N.H. and still later was appointed fire chief in Rochester. Now, as New Hampshire's State Fire Marshall, his office is located in Concord.

Sampson's are home

Dot and Real Sampson and their children, David, Stephen, Nancy, Diane and Scott of 2 Edyth Drive, Tewksbury returned home last week following a vacation trip during which they spent four days at Myrtle Beach, Florida and stopped off in Pennsylvania Dutch Country around Lancaster on their return trip.

Local talent

The movie "Jaws" has been making headlines and causing long lines outside area cinemas for several months now. A Wilmington businessman played a part in that movie.

"Big Joe" LeCreta, owner of Big Joe's Sub Shop in Wilmington Square appeared in several scenes of the production and may be identified as "always wearing a hard hat." He appeared in scenes with the mayor and with the bounty hunters, and at one point, the shark actually grabbed his arm. The movie was filmed in Australia, Hollywood, and on Martha's Vineyard.

This is not a first for Joe, he has taken part in the making of numerous other films over the past several years.

Ted Williams Camp

Four members of Tewksbury Junior High School's baseball team who have been working at the Ted Williams Camp in Lakeville (Mass.) have now been joined by a fifth.

John Hurley, Gary Richmond, Mark Scammon and Mark Morin have been employed at the camp all summer. Jimmy Friedman joined them last week.

The boys, working as kitchen aids are also participants in the camp's baseball program.

Several other Tewksbury boys, members of the basketball program are also attending the camp.

Softball league lead tight

Three clubs are virtually tied for the top spot in the nine team boys' division of the Wilmington Youth Softball League with only three weeks left in the season. Victor Coffee and the Wedges are tied for first place, while S.W.A.T. is only one half game back and Al MaGoon's trail the divisional leaders by one game.

In the girls' set, Arthur Cote's Streakers entered last night's encounter with the Sluggers one game ahead of Gloria Smith's red and white club. The third place Tiggers of Ginny Hastings are close with a 6-5 mark good enough for third place, while the improving Panthers are mired in fourth place.

Tues. Aug. 5: The Sluggers bested the Pink Panthers, 7-2 in one of the better played games this season. Susan Rowe went the distance to gain her initial league win of the season, allowing only three singles. Brenda Baker (0-2) was the hard luck loser. In the second game, the Tiggers upset the Streakers, 10-6 behind the pitching of Diane Cote (3-0) and the hitting of Maureen Nash and Cheryl Stumpf. A five run fourth inning proved to be the difference for Coach Hastings' club, with Cote's two run triple being the key hit of the frame.

The Cellar Dwellers nipped the Curb, 4-2 behind the four hit pitching of Gary Minks (4-4). Pat Fullerton (2-4) tossed a one hitter, but 13 walks led to his downfall. In the other boys' encounter S.W.A.T. routed Silver Lake Sox, 18-6 with a pair of seven run innings. Brian Anderson (4-1) coasted to his third straight win, while Ray Couzzo (1-3) was losing his third straight for the Sox.

Sat. Aug. 9: The Sluggers bombed the Tiggers, 22-6 aided by an 11 run fifth inning in a battle for second place. Susan Rowe posted her second straight mound win, while Diane Cote (3-1) was losing her first. Ann Gillis, Brenda Burns and Karen Andres had two hits each for the Sluggers, while Cote had three for the Tiggers.

In the other girls' encounter, the Streakers topped the winless Pink Panthers, 18-10. Debbie Bent (4-1) bested Kathy Burke (0-5). Dot Lawler and Jill Campbell led the divisional leaders with three hits each while six other players whipped in with two each. Sharon Larabee led the Panthers attack with three singles.

Victor Coffee remained deadlocked for first place as they whipped the Cellar Dwellers, 15-4 in the opening of a quartet of boys' games at Town Park. Dave McMillan (5-0) kept his pitching record unblemished as his teammates slammed out 23 hits. Jim Doyle and Chris Rounds had four apiece to lead Victor offensively. Joe Mellino had five hits for the Dwellers in a losing cause.

The Wedges overcame an early 7-0 lead to defeat Al MaGoon's 17-9. Mickey Tower and his brother Tom led the Wedges' attack with four and three hits respectively. Tom Tower (5-3) went the route allowing only four hits. Don O'Connell (2-1) lost his first game in three outings.

Al MaGoon's bounced back in the third game of the night tripping up the Wrecks, 14-11 with Kris Hinxman gaining his first win of the season. Steve Sunnenberg (1-3) went the distance to pick up his third straight loss. Hinxman walked 20 while giving up only four hits in his initial mound appearance of the season. In the last game of the evening the Wrecks whitewashed slumping Joe App's, 7-0.

Mon. Aug. 11: Coach Jim Hastings' squad posted their third straight league win defeating Andover 10-6 at Town Park. The Recs overcame an early 6-3 deficit with four runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth to post their fifth league win. Betty Cote went the distance walking two, while striking out one. Joan Welch and Debbie Bent had a pair of hits each to pace the offense, while Barbara Moulton starred defensively at shortstop.

Tennis Club planning tournament

The Wilmington Tennis Club will hold its 1975 Annual Tournament at the Avco courts beginning on Saturday, September 6 and running through Sunday, September 21.

Tournament play will include competition in all five events: mens and womens singles; mens and womens doubles; and mixed doubles.

Each weekend of tournament competition will be devoted to specific events from first round action on Saturday through the finals on Sunday.

The schedule:

First weekend

Mens and womens singles.

Second weekend

Mens and womens doubles.

Third weekend

Mixed doubles.

All tournament matches will be scheduled on weekends with an assigned time for all matches. There will be no tournament play during the week, except in the event of rain on the weekend.

All members wishing to enter tournament play may register by contacting the following tournament committee members no later than Friday, August 22.

Last name A-I, Sandy Durling, 658-8593; last name M-Z, Paul Greco, 658-5362.

When making the call to register, indicate which events you wish to enter.

In order to meet the needs of all levels of play for all members, there will be two divisions of tournament play this year. Ladder positions will determine the division of play for all members entering the tournament. However, any member not currently participating in ladder play may register and will be seeded by the tournament committee.

All registration calls must be received no later than Friday, August 22 in order to allow the committee time to prepare drawings and match schedules for the start of Tournament play.

The tournament committee will prepare the pairings, and match schedules and all members entering the tournament will be contacted prior to their first round match.

Girls' ice hockey sign up now

Any girl who would like to play ice hockey this fall and winter, may do so by registering with the Wilmington Recreation Department during the next two weeks. There is no age limit, only the desire to play hockey is necessary.

This will be the third season for the Rec Department's entry in the Merrimack Valley Girls Hockey League. There will be two teams this season, a Division I club with the more experienced girls playing Sunday afternoons in Tyngsboro, and the other club will be made up of the less experienced girls.

For further information and registration forms those interested in participating should call the Rec office at 658-6512.

Rec playgrounds close season

Tomorrow at noon brings to a close a very successful playground season in Wilmington. The Recreation Department's eight playgrounds would like to publicly thank the Police Department, Knights of Columbus, the custodians and Maintenance Department for their help and cooperation in making the "Summer of 75" a summer to remember for the youth of Wilmington.

Compugraphic vs Sting for championship

TOWN CRIER, AUGUST 14, 1975

Sun. Aug. 10: (Compugraphic behind the steady pitching of Jim Lobsein eliminated Ralph's Automotive in the rubber game of the series. Dave Newhouse proved to be a tough pitcher in the complete series but the bats of Compugraphic came alive in the final game with Dick Butt leading the way with a single and a pair of triples. Brian Richards and Walter Welding each had three hits.

The Sting's big bats unloaded on Norm Andres and the Masonic Gang to take the series 2-1. Winning pitcher Joe Gilligan coasted to the win behind the offensive power led by Joe Langone (four hits including a grand slam - seven rbi's) and Dennis DeMaggio (four hits). Ralph Terricone and Mike Sugrue had a pair of hits for the Masons.

Summer at Forty Acres draws to close

On Tuesday the Kiwanis Club of Wilmington sponsored a cookout for all the campers and staff at Forty Acres. There were plenty of hamburgers, hotdogs, soda and cake for all. Everyone was very grateful to the Kiwanians for putting on the event and a big thank-you has been extended to them from the Forty Acres gang.

On Thursday the group traveled to the Northshore Music Theatre to see "Cinderella." Everyone enjoyed the amusing play and the favorite character, as voted by the campers was the fat Fairy Godmother.

A rainy Friday was spent at camp, but even in the rain there was much to do in preparation for the last week of camp.

The final week included a family night at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wilmington on Monday, August 11. The campers and their families were treated to a spaghetti dinner, followed by entertainment offered by the campers.

The last overnight of the 1975 season will be held tonight. The annual camper awards will be presented, in addition to the traditional scavenger hunt, marshmallow toast and singalong. Who knows? Forty Acres White Lion will make another appearance....

Tigers blanked

Ron Wallace captured another mound victory, again firing a no-hitter to lead the American Little League Angels on to a 5-0 shutout victory over the National Little League Tigers, in the battle for the town championship, last week.

Wallace fanned 13 Tiger batters and defensively made some clutch plays. Frankie Hawkes, Bob Ballou, Wallace and Peter Michals contributed with timely hits toward the win.

Mon. Aug. 11: Compugraphic opened up their championship round with the K of C with an impressive 8-3 win. Jim Lobsein was on the mound for the win while Dick Elliott picked up the loss. Brian Richards continued his hot hitting in the playoffs with a pair of doubles and a triple good for three rbi's. Jim MacMullin had a double and single to drive in two runs for the Knights.

The Sting came up with seven runs in the first four innings and then held on in the last two to come up with a close win over Heffron in the final series. Ted Wicks remained perfect on the year as he picked up the win while Rusty Heubner was the hard-luck loser. Gene Baldwin (two hits - two rbi's) and Jim Tildsley (homerun) were the offensive weapons for The Sting and Rick Froton was perfect with the night for Heffron with four hits in four attempts good for three rbi's.

Tues. Aug. 12: The Sting won the West Division playoffs in two straight games as they erupted for nine runs in the third inning and then coasted to a 12-6 triumph over Rusty Heubner and the Heffron Gang. Dennis DeMaggio, Ed Harrison and Joe Langone all had three hits to give winning pitcher Joe Gilligan all the support he needed. Rusty Heubner and Ray Noel each had three hits in a losing cause.

Compugraphic led by the relief pitching of Jim Lobsein turned in another solid performance to sweep their championship series with K of C and win the East title for the first time since joining the league six years ago. In a hotly contested game the bats of Joe Schier and Dick Butt along with the defensive play of second baseman Jim Robertson (spared two line drives in bases loaded situations) carried them over the Knights and Dick Elliott. Rick Nickerson had four hits while Steve Kail and Jim MacMullins had three, but it was all in vain.

Former tree warden wants special town meeting for job

Tewksbury selectmen have unanimously taken under advisement a petition for a special town meeting presented by former Tree Warden Walter R. Doucette. The action came after a wild, angry exchange involving several selectmen and Doucette, who wants a town meeting to request special legislation to give him an unfilled tree superintendent's job.

Doucette said he was the only employee who lost his job because of the creation of the Department of Public Works by the 1974 annual town meeting. He attacked the board for not honoring a 1975 town meeting action creating the post of tree superintendent.

Selectmen countered that he packed the 1975 session to authorize the $14,400 position, which the board claimed was unneeded, overpaid and not designated to be filled by him.

Doucette said as tree warden he included in the budget for the tree department the position of tree superintendent, with him designated by name to hold the post, when he submitted the department budget just prior to the creation of the DPW.

Says name omitted

When the town meeting warrant appeared, his name didn't appear as designated to hold the position, he said. Selectmen said no person's name appeared on the budgets in town warrants.

Doucette stressed when the town meeting approved establishing the position 2-1, "I think there was no question who was putting it in and who wanted it."

Doucette went on to harangue selectmen for not appointing him to the post, attacked them for playing politics instead of getting town business done and said he hoped they were all removed from office.

When McNeil commented that 12 other elected officials could take the same road through legislation to get permanent town jobs, Doucette answered, "That is their prerogative."

then, simultaneously, Doucette shouted at McNeil for being the worst freshman selectmen he had seen and for playing politics, while McNeil, in a steadily louder voice answered, "The only thing I did was say face to face to you that we did not need you...You stacked the town meeting, Walter, You stacked it."

Questions work load

McNeil went on to say that for years the foreman of the tree department did all the work and that Doucette only worked only a half to a full day a week. Doucette claimed he answered all telephone calls for the department 24 hours a day, and screamed that McNeil's statements were "garbage" and McNeil "politically ignorant."

Selectman Norman O. Boudreau

also engaged in a shouting match with Doucette after questioning why Doucette wanted $14,400 a year for doing a job the town only paid the warden $7,800. "That $7,800 was not a living wage," Doucette blasted.

Doucette apologized for getting angry. He said he originally intended to submit the petition for the town meeting, but objected to remarks made by Boudreau earlier in the meeting.

Questions prompt anger

At that time, during a discussion with Town Counsel Charles J. Zaroulis, Boudreau asked if Doucette, as an example, could file legislation through his state representative as an alternative to a town meeting's taking such an action.

DEPENDABLE SERVICE FOR 45 YEARS

$1600 is looking for an owner

George Spanos - the Mayor of Wilmington. It is 10 years since he passed on. Today there are people in Wilmington who rightfully can say Who? when George's name is mentioned.

He was a wonderful person, Greek born, who ran a restaurant in Wilmington Square during World War II. Anyone who came into George's restaurant was served a cup of coffee on the house, if that person was in uniform, for George was perhaps the most patriotic person ever to live in Wilmington.

Not a jingoistic patriot. A plain ordinary died-in-the-wool type of patriot, who loved every girl and boy in the town, and followed their careers in the Army and Navy, as they went off to war. The walls of his restaurant were covered with photographs of Wilmington boys and girls in the service.

George was always doing things. When there were special trains to Boston, for the people of Wilmington to attend the Silver Skates competitions, George would have tickets. Not just a few - for 1300 people would go to Boston for such an event - but all 1300.

Some of the things he did never did come to fruition - and Peg Page, manager of the Wilmington branch of the Reading Savings Bank has one of those things - a problem for her.

Peg has a bankbook, with $1600 credited to the account of the Wilmington Rehabilitation Committee. Peg has to do something about that bank book - turn the money over to someone. If she doesn't, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will claim the money, as an unclaimed account.

And Peg says she would rather see the money used in Wilmington even if Governor Dukakis does need it.

Back in 1944 George started a Wilmington Rehabilitation Committee. He had a couple of glass jars in his restaurant, and anyone who wanted to, could toss a couple of coins into those jars. George, from time to time, would take those jars over to the bank, and Joe McMahon, the bank manager, would count the pennies, dimes and nickles, and put them into the Wilmington Rehabilitation Committee account. Joe was the treasurer.

The idea was to have money on hand for the boys, when they came back from World War II. George was thinking of a big banquet, for everyone, but he named the sum as it was named so that the money could be used for those who might need it.

The boys came home by dribs and drabs. There was no opportunity for a big banquet.

It just stayed in the bank account, and collected interest. As reported there is $1600 now. And George and Joe - they have both passed on.

Mrs. Page just cannot turn that money over to anyone. There was a suggestion that it be turned over to the three Veteran's organizations in Wilmington, but that is impossible.

Nor can it be turned over to the Town of Wilmington. Somebody wanted, a few years ago, to put up a monument, or flagpole. That to, is impossible.

Peg Page must turn that money over to someone who was in the Wilmington Rehabilitation Committee.

Is there anyone, today alive from that committee?

The Crusaders have offered their sincere thanks and appreciation to all who contributed to make their Canadian trip possible - thank you!!!

Consumer information at Wilmington Public Library

With current high prices and tight budgets, awareness of the valuable consumer information at the library becomes important to all shoppers. Information on product ratings, what to do when dissatisfied with a purchase, and how to make a budget work are some of the areas covered in the titles listed below.

The monthly Consumer Reports and the Consumer Reports Annual Buying Guide are consulted by a good number of patrons, but few go beyond to use the library's other resources.

The library has the following consumer education books published since 1973:

The Consumers Catalog of Economy & Ecology by Jeanne Bendick describes the economic and environmental responsibility of consumers when exercising purchasing power. Mobile Homes: the Low-Cost Housing Hoax, a Report by the Center for Auto Safety by Lynda McDonnell; Buy it Right! an introduction to Consumerism by Jean Ende; How to Buy Major Appliances by Charles Klamkin; The Coupon Way to Lower Food Prices by Carole Dratz; Consumer Complaint Guide, 1974 by Joseph Rosenbloom; How to Win the Grocery Game; a Proven Strategy for Beating Inflation by Delight Omohundro; The Great American Auto Repair Robbery; a Report on a Ten-Billion Dollar National Swindle - and What You Can Do About it by Donald Randall; A Public Citizen's Action Manual by Donald Ross; The Intelligent Consumer; How to Buy Food, Clothes, Cars, Houses, Vacations, by Christopher Weatherbee.

The library has the following consumer protection books published since 1973:

Jobs that Help the Consumer & Homemaker by Gilda Berger; How I Turn Ordinary Complaints into Thousands of Dollars; the Diary of a Tough Customer by Ralph Charell; Sue the B*st*rds; the Victim's Handbook by Douglas Matthews; Frauds, Swindles & Frauds; A Red Directory of Consumer Protection & Environmental Agencies by the Academic Media; The Angry Buyer's Complaining Directory by Jack White; The Screwing of the Average Man by David Hapgood; The American Food Scandal; Why You Can't Eat Well on What You Make by William Robbins.

Also, the consumer listings in the pamphlet file have a wealth of practical and specific information on everything from buying lawn seed to life insurance.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE: President Sid Feldman of Wilmington Rotary awarded pins to 18 members of the club for perfect attendance - never missed a meeting.

Ten year members, standing in back, include Bryant Bedell, John Fitzgerald and Ray York, and five year members are: Ralph Allen, Bennett Bedell, William F. But, Corey Coombs, Dr. Stanley Filipek, Ralph Flodin, Earle Hamilton, Bernard McMahon and Carl Melander.

President Sid Feldman is standing in center.

Frank Tuttle is nominee for Forest Committee

For some weeks the Wilmington selectmen have been wanting to nominate a committee to be in charge of the North Wilmington Town Forest, which was voted in the annual Town Meeting in March.

One of those who have been nominated is Town Engineer, Bob Higgins. Mr. Higgins is not a resident of Wilmington, and the selectmen have been waiting for a ruling from the Town Counsel as to his eligibility in such a committee.

Monday night Selectman Jim Miceli nominated Frank Tuttle of Carson Avenue, to serve on the committee.

Mr. Tuttle is a Wilmington Boy Scout leader and Scoutmaster who has been prominent in the Audubon Society for years, and has led many bird walks at the Imswich Sanctuary.

In Wilmington he is the author of a study of the ferns in the Town Memorial Park, published a few years ago, in which park he identified 27 varieties of ferns.

Robert J. Ducat program manager

Capt. Robert J. Ducat of 16 Boutwell St., Wilmington is the program manager of a new Air Force optical telescope which scans the Pacific Skies.

The telescope at Palehua, Hawaii, is the first element of a planned Solar Electro Optical (SEON), which enables USAF Air Weather Service Observers to more accurately determine disturbances on the sun that could affect the earth environment.

The observatory, a reproduction version of a proposed five-unit sun watch network, was developed in-house by a science-engineering team of the Air Force Electronic Systems Division (ESD) and Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories (AFCL), both part of the Air Force Systems Command.

Capt. Ducat of ESD's Weather Instrumentation Program Office describes the SEON mission as "global tracking and warning and the real-time prediction of space events which may be disruptive to satellite, radar and communications systems that are vital to Air Force operations."

Preliminary testing of the overall baseline system was done at AFCL's Sacramento Peak Observatory in Sunspot, New Mexico, where the telescope was designed and built by Dr. Richard B. Dunn. The on-site testing and evaluation followed at Palehua. Each unit will be comprised of a telescope and four subsystems for: Automatic Solar Tracking and Light Acquisition; Automatic Flare Patrol; Multi-Spectral Line Analysis, and Data Processing and Communications.

Solar forecasters of Air Weather Service using this sunrise to sunset global monitoring capability expect to provide real-time solar alert and analysis data, and timely forecast information to Air Force agencies whose missions could be affected by natural events in the upper atmosphere.

The optically gathered data is processed automatically at the Palehua observatory and funneled into the Air Force Global Weather Central at Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska, and to other government agencies. Communications linkups also tie-in the Astrogeophysical Teletype Network, Automated Weather Network, as well as providing teletype and telephone circuits for filing solar alerts.

"Two important aspects of this system," says Capt. Ducat, "are its standardized data and fully supportable characteristics." The new telescope only recently completed its on-site tests. ESD will soon request authority from the Air Force to produce four follow-on systems. Subsequent installations are to be made on a staggered basis at sites in the Far East, Puerto Rico and Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico.

Karen Simmons will wed in July

Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Simmons of 14 Marjorie Rd., Wilmington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen to Gary Murch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Murch of 467 Shawheen St., Tewksbury. Miss Simmons is a graduate of Wilmington High School and is presently employed by Fireman's Fund Insurance.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School is currently attending Berkley in May.

A July wedding is planned.

Lights out twice in same place

Residents of the Church Street area of Wilmington lost their power twice last Thursday as a result of falling tree limbs broken by heavy rain.

At 7:52 a.m. and again at 11:35 p.m., lines broke on Middlesex Avenue near Wildwood Street. The morning break shut off power for 53 minutes. The late night break was repaired by 1:15 a.m.

electric power to the Wilmington police station was cut off both times, but in the morning incident, the emergency generating system took over. When the lights went out the second time, though, the emergency system did not work and the station was without power for four minutes.
